Hatherleigh Bellringers Bells Restoration Project

Bells have rung in Hatherleigh for hundreds of years. They ring for Sunday services, weddings, national celebrations and commemorations, for solemn occasions such as Remembrance Sunday and occasionally for funerals. They rang to celebrate the peace in 1918, sounded the curfew each night until World War II and have tolled to mark the deaths of monarchs and royalty.

Problems in the Tower

For well over 100 years the oak bell frame in Hatherleigh Church tower, installed in 1883, has supported our eight beautifully-tuned bells. Now the bell frame has aged badly and strengthening it is not a long-term solution.

Restoration

Our bells were last removed for recasting and rehangng in 1929. Without renovation we've been advised the bells will have to fall silent within the next 5 years and can no longer ring in Hatherleigh.

To continue ringing, all bells must be removed from the tower and transported to Somerset for refurbishment. A new frame must be installed in the empty tower. The work will take several months and a very substantial amount of money – around £75,000 – is needed to realise the project. Only then can we ensure that bells will continue ringing for another hundred years.

Fundraising

With the blessings and full co-operation of our vicar Leigh Winsbury and the Parochial Church Council, Hatherleigh Bellringers have launched a fundraising campaign to save our bells. This campaign is independent of the church's fundraising for repairs and modernisation but some proposed works overlap, such as raising the ringing floor up a level to accommodate a kitchen and toilet on the tower's ground floor (where ringing currently takes place). Work on the tower and bells must be completed first.

Hatherleigh Bellringers Bells Restoration Project

Hatherleigh Bellringers have made a starter contribution of around £1,000. The team will be approaching several funding bodies for grants, and are planning local events to involve the church, community and ringers from other towers.

Service to Church and Community

Please consider contributing to the Bellringers' restoration fund so that our ancient ringing tradition can continue to serve Church and community.
